From the Pastor

We all face a variety of problems on any given day and many of those problems are trivial and are easily overcome. A spilled drink can be cleaned up. An appointment that is late is a frustration but usually not the end of the world. Chances are we don't stop and pray for heavenly assistance every time we're stuck in the slow-moving line at the supermarket. Some of us have known serious problems like a sudden job loss, devastating medical diagnosis or other life-altering situation, but those are (thankfully!) pretty rare. There's a good chance most of us turn to God pretty quickly when life's disasters strike. But there are many problems we face that are likely between those two extremes.

These mid-range problems may be things like a large order going out from work with a glaring mistake or an increase in insurance premiums putting additional stress on an already tight household budget. These issues are not necessarily devastating but they're also not easy to overcome, and they can be stressful to resolve. These types of problems require us to actively find and implement solutions that may not be pleasant. Using the above examples, the company might have to eat the cost of their error and reprimand those responsible for the oversight. We may have to work extra hours or cut out something we really enjoy to accommodate a higher insurance bill.

It does not matter if the problem is large or small, we can always know that Jesus is ready and willing to help us work things out. In the second reading, St. Paul points us to Christ who is our hope in all things. After all, he rose from the dead and has the possibility to help us rise out of our situations. As has been said so many times, that does not mean that he will solve the problem in the way we were hoping but there will be a resolution. We pray we can work with grace to find the best resolution.

ST. ALOYSIUS PROJECT

St. Aloysius Historical Society is looking into putting outdoor Stations of the Cross on their premises. The stations would be made of black granite etched with white detail, measuring 18"x18". They would be standing on two stainless steel powder coated I-beams measuring about five feet tall, set into concrete pads. Each station would cost $1,000 and that would include the price of the station, posts, and installation. If you would like to purchase one in your family's name or ancestor's name, it would appear at the bottom of the station. "Donated by: Family" or "In memory of: Mr. & Mrs." If you are interested in this project or would like more information, please contact us at saintaloyshush@gmail.com or call 620-724-8536 or 620-724-8554. We appreciate any help!
